streaming videos

With your library card, you can stream over 30,000 documentary, instructional, and performing arts videos from PBS, the BBC, National Geographic, TED, and many others! Learn more about Films on Demand on the library's website (jamessprunt.libguides.com).

Get there
1. Go to the NC LIVE homepage (nclive.org or use the link on the library's webpage)
2. Select "Videos" (under "Browse")
3. Select "Films on Demand Video Collection"
   - If you're off campus, you'll be prompted to choose your library (James Sprunt Community College). Once you've done so, you can use either your JSCC e-mail and password or your library barcode number to log in.

Find a title
- Browse by subject or creator
  - From the homepage:
    - Under Browse Subjects, choose from 30 broad topics like "Anthropology," "Art & Architecture," "Biology," etc. – select "View All" for the full list
    - Under Browse Featured Producers, find titles from ABC News, American Experience, American Museum of Natural History, the BBC, and others
    - Other sections highlight monthly/seasonal topics, videos popular at JSCC, and recently added titles
  - From any page, use the "Menu" icon in the upper left to access the Subject Index or Producer Index
Under "Narrow Results" on a subject page, you'll find further options to filter videos, including copyright date, language, or narrower subjects (subcategories).

- For instance, in the "Education" collection, results may be limited to the subcategories "Foundations," "Psychology & Education," "Curriculum and Instruction," or "Special Education"
- Subcategories may be further subdivided using the arrow to the left of the name

Producer pages offer the same range of filter options.

- For example, you may limit all videos from National Geographic to just those titles in the anthropology category

Apply multiple filters as needed.

- E.g., BBC videos on biology produced within the last 5 years

- Search by keyword/s
  - Use the search box at the top of each page for simple keyword searches
  - For example, searching for "louis armstrong" will find matches in:
    > Video title (e.g., Louis Armstrong: King of Jazz, a 2006 documentary)
    > Segment title (a 5-minute clip about Louis Armstrong from the American Experience episode "New Orleans")
    > Transcript (In Mondrian's Studio, a documentary that mentions Armstrong in passing)

- Search filters are provided; see preceding section on browsing for more information
- Use "Advanced Search" (linked under the search box on each page) to apply filters before searching

  - To limit your results to videos with captions and transcripts, look for "Advanced Filters" and check the box for "Show only closed-captioned programs"
    > Note: this filter is only available under "Advanced Search"

- Sort options allow ordering of results by relevance, copyright date, or popularity

Share or save links

- To link to a specific video or segment:
  - Look for "Record URL" under the video player, select "Highlight," and then copy using your browser's menus or a keyboard shortcut (CTRL + C or Command + C)

  - This will link to either the full video or selected segment – the link target is indicated by the title just above "Record URL." If you're viewing a segment but want the link to the full title, use the "Share" tool and copy the "Title URL."
- Or, look below the player and select "Share," then "E-mail" to send yourself the URL

- To link to a series or subject:
  - Select "Page Link" under the page heading, then highlight and copy the URL

- Do not copy links from your browser's address bar
  - To obtain stable links, you must use one of the methods described above

Locate and use transcripts and/or closed-captioning
- Most (though not all) videos allow the user to turn on closed-captioning and are accompanied by interactive transcripts. Use "Advanced Search" to find only videos that have captions (see search instructions above).
- Look to the right of the video player and toggle "Show Transcript"
  - Select any word to jump to that point in the video
  - Words currently being spoken are highlighted in blue
  - Use the printer icon to pop out a plain-text transcript in a separate window (it will not print automatically)
On mobile devices or in narrow browser windows, use the bar icon ( ) below the title to display the video's segments and transcript.

- To turn on closed-captioning, use the "CC" button in the bottom right portion of the video player, then select "English"
  - Captions or subtitles in other languages are currently only available where provided by the producer: they do not need to be turned on.

- If captions or a transcript are not available, the above options are not displayed.

Keep in mind

- There is no charge to you to use Films on Demand.
- Films on Demand via NC LIVE currently offers over 30,000 titles in many subject areas, and new videos are added regularly.
- Sign up for a free Films on Demand account for additional options, such as customizing search preferences and building and sharing playlists.
- Tech support and privacy information are available directly from Films on Demand. Look in the footer of any page for links and information.
- Faculty: students can access Films on Demand remotely with their JSCC e-mail or a library card, so you may wish to link to videos from online courses or assign a video for homework. Most titles are closed-captioned.
- For assistance and additional information, contact the library staff at (910) 296-2519 or jscclibrary@jamessprunt.edu.
